What Is the Show?
There are different things I do. Rick Adams is a clown-ventriloquist. That's one part of my double life. I am also a singer-songwriter and just go under the name 'Adam.' I am finding the balance and movement to make my music so that it has a little punch.

What gets wrapped up for one of your shows?
For One Man Band! a homemade accordion, telephone, an alarm clock and over 40 other bells, whistles and other gadgets that together weigh over 50 pounds.

What drives you to do what you do?
I have always tried to reach people emotionally in different ways. I have worked with hand shadows at different times or the musical saw to touch people's hearts. When people hear a song that flies, they have an emotional reaction that is beyond entertainment. It is personal and it touches their heart.

Where did you make your musical start?
There was a youth center in Pawtucket, R.I., where I was starting to do Shakespeare and music. It gave me something to do during the hard times.

Who are your musical influences?
There range from Spike Jones in the '30s and '40s - a guy who did wacky ventriloquist music - to Bill Hiatt, the Beatles, to music of today with David Wilcox and Ani Difranco.

When does a normal show become a great show?
A good performance will teach fans a whole spectrum of emotions: funny, exciting, angry and the feeling of love.

How do schoolchildren react to your performances?
I have had kids come up and give interviews about shows they had seen in their life ranging from drugs and alcohol to sexual abuse. One kid was experiencing with blowing things up through manufacturing hand grenades and land mines.

You must have a lot of endurance to keep up for your live acts.
Singing has always been a form of entertainment. It has gotten me through the hard times.

Digital television is a complex and intricate process that involves opening huge amounts of public money to make your current TV set useless. Given the quality of regulation the ing the means of the public airwaves, the public will not like to take the risk of losing the quality of programming they are enjoying if they do not.

If you think that the federal government had decided to throw everyone in America to try to make a movie, it would be a sure thing. If they just spent their money wisely and built a system that worked, there would be no need for Congress to force the Federal Communications Commission, which already controls TV stations to convert from their current analog broadcasts to digital signals.

Maine stations are supposed to start digital broadcasting in 2002, but will only allow for four channels to be shown on one technology.

Why not sell the FCC on digital TV, which will be worth $25 billion, but also make it work?

Portland School Committee holds closed-door meeting to discuss giving itself benefits or a pay raise

BY CONNIE PELLICIO

Free Press Staff Writer

The Portland School Committee voted to go into executive session at its meeting on Monday night to discuss giving itself a raise or some other form of benefit.

The decision to go into executive session, which was made by a 4-1 vote, was the subject of much debate and discussion among committee members.

Portland Mayor Charlie Hurley, who has long been critical of the school district's pay scale, expressed concern about the committee's decision.

"This is not a good use of taxpayers' money," Hurley said. "I think it's important for the committee to be transparent about its decisions.

"It's important for the public to know what's going on," he added.

The committee voted 4-1 to go into executive session. Members voting in favor included Richard Sabin, Herb Adams, Erik Richard and Mary Mary. Member Herb Adams, who was absent from the meeting, was not present to vote on the issue.

The vote was made by a 4-1 margin, with members voting in favor of the motion and one member against.

The motion to go into executive session was made by committee member Erik Richard, who said the committee had been discussing the issue for several weeks and that it was time to make a decision.

"I think it's important for the committee to be transparent about its decisions," Richard said.

"We've been talking about this for a long time," he added.

Don’t wait for trouble

Officer Robert Doherty called for backup based on the fact that the three men he stopped happened to be black, as a former New England Patriot. Chris, do you know what someone, right? Just ask Nicole Brown. There are three good-sized guys in a car you stop. Just in case? That is different than calling for backup. Use your head and ask if another officer can head your way. Anyone who knows Doherty knows he doesn’t call for backup and he isn’t racist.

Last fall, the committee attempted to hike the property of some City Councilors. But the School Committee’s contempt for the democratic process has got to stop. I wasn’t called.

In summary, I’d just like to say that tickets’ contempt is one thing. The decision of what goes into my body for treatment or otherwise should be mine. Stop laughing.

In the first paragraph, I am confused. Whalen continues, "You barely have contempt of any kind?" Actually, I couldn’t stop laughing. His diatribe continues with knocking generalities and veiled assumptions that do not add up to contempt. In the second paragraph, I am confused as well. It’s not easy to keep up with whatever it is he’s denouncing.

In the first paragraph, I am confused. What does Whalen mean when he says, "I’m confused as well. It’s not easy to keep up with whatever it is he’s denouncing." I begin to chuckle at this point as I begin reading the next paragraph. Whalen seems to be using the word "contempt" to describe someone he doesn’t like. I begin to wonder if he is aware of the words he is using.

Balmoral

The year is 2122 AD. Anthropologists are shuffling their enormous boxes and wading through the heady vapor that fills Prime Artist Studios. The boxes are enormous, nearly as large as a sofa, and are filled with artifacts and documents of unknown origin. The air is thick with the scent of ancient history and ancient technologies.

Prime Artist Rehearsal Studios

From the outside, Prime Artist looks like a warehouse, but inside, it's a hive of activity. Musicians from all over the world come to Prime Artist to practice their craft. The studio is buzzing with the sound of guitars, drums, and keyboards. The walls are lined with equipment, and the floor is covered in musical instruments.

Getting started

Davison, the founder of Prime Artist, is a man of many talents. He is a musician, an engineer, and a scholar. He started Prime Artist as a way to bring people together who share a love for music. Davison believes that music is a powerful force that can bring people together and make the world a better place.

KEB' MO'

Kevin Maroney knows the power of the apostrophe. In August he was premiering new work to Artistic Director of The Portland Opera, Karen Brown. Now he’s ready to perform the piece in his full glory. The evening is part of the Portland Opera’s 50th anniversary season. The program includes a new work for solo voice, and the Portland Opera Chorus.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 23

ATLANTIC CHAMBER ORCHESTRA

The Atlantic Chamber Orchestra is a unique group of musicians capable of playing both Manuel de Falla inspired "La Vida Breve" and Ricky Martin’s insipid "La Vida Loca." For the first event of the season, "Latin Explosion! A Hot-Blooded Evening of Latin-Flavored Music, Food and Drink: the 36-piece orchestra will be joined by the Latin-via-Boston group Sol y Canto to perform a variety of edible exports from Latin America and plenty of opportunities to dance the calories away. $23. 780-9677.

MEDESKI MARTIN & WOOD

Stills, Nash & Young, Medeski Martin & Wood often perform with a fourth member - DJ Logic - on turntables. He'll get his own turn when his Project Mental group, composed of keyboardist John Medeski, drummer Billy Martin and bassist Chris Wood, lay down catchy grooves instead. Like Crosby, Stills, and Nash, Logic opens the show. Figure it out at the State Theatre, 609 Congress St., Portland, at 7:30 p.m. Tix: $20. 775-3331.

"The Secret and the Problem: Fishbones" is an absurdist play set in a prison. The action is divided into four acts, each of which is separated by a monologue delivered by one of the inmates. The play is a commentary on the nature of power and control, and the ways in which it can be used to manipulate and control others.

MAD HORSACR: "AMAZING GRACE"

"AMAZING GRACE" is a tragicomic play that explores the life of a former gangster who is forced to confront his past and come to terms with his past actions.

DANCE INTERNATIONAL BAND: "DANCE INTERNATIONAL BAND"

"DANCE INTERNATIONAL BAND" is a high-energy dance band that performs a variety of styles, from rock and roll to salsa and beyond.

PERFORMANCE

The performers in "DANCE INTERNATIONAL BAND" are a diverse group of musicians who come from all over the world. They have come together to create a unique sound that is both energetic and exciting.

The performance features a variety of styles, including rock, reggae, salsa, and more.

The show concludes with a rousing finale that leaves the audience wanting more.

The performance is a fantastic celebration of music and dance, and is sure to be a hit with audiences of all ages.

Spectral sightings

A few months ago, the writer of this piece was asked to review a book about ghosts. The only one she read was a book about ghosts, but it was clear that Portland was being haunted, and the author made sure to return the book to the library before moving on to another subject.

One of the things that makes Portland so special is its unique history, which includes the supernatural. The city is home to a number of haunted houses, including the famous Haunted House on Washington Avenue. The house is believed to have been the site of a murder, and many people have reported seeing ghosts inside.

The house is now open to the public, and visitors can take a tour to see the ghostly images that haunt the rooms. The house is also home to a number of ghosts, including a child who is often seen playing on the stairs.

The author of the article was fascinated by the history of the house and decided to visit it herself. She was accompanied by a tour guide who knew the history of the house and the ghosts that lived there.

The tour guide explained that the house was built in the 1800s, and it has been a part of Portland's history for many years. The house was once a home to a wealthy family, and it was said that the family was involved in a number of dark deeds.

The ghosts that haunt the house are said to be the family that lived there, and they are often seen wandering the halls of the house. The guide also said that the ghosts are said to be friendly, and they often appear to give tours to visitors.

The house is now open to the public, and visitors can take a tour to see the ghosts that haunt the rooms. The tour is a great way to learn about the history of the house and the ghosts that lived there.

The author of the article highly recommends that anyone interested in ghosts visit the house. It is a great way to learn about the history of the city and the supernatural events that have taken place there.
